About Monica

Monica used to work as a Producer for Nine Network's 'A Current Affair'. When she wasn't chasing fraudsters down the street, she helped thousands of people, communicate their stories to an audience of millions.

Now as an inCredible Communication Keynote Speaker, she helps leaders, teams and business owners communicate with Confidence, Clarity and Charisma in a post Covid-19 world.

Monica brings over two decades of trade secrets to the table, providing insights and practical strategies to help delegates move from a feeling of depletion, to feeling confident, passionate and focused.

As a comedian, she knows how to get your audience laughing, so that her messages land and are remembered long after everyone goes home.

Monica has a way of making complex concepts simple and leave audiences excited about reaching their full potential through the power of inCredible Communication.

Highly recommended. Personable, authentic and of the highest quality.

Darren Parker, Executive Director, SIRA, NSW Govt

Monica's keynote was exactly what our audience of online retailers needed to hear. A stand out presentation!

Phil Leahy, CEO, Retail Global

Monica was a natural MS Team presenter and highly skilled at keeping the audience engaged, entertained and educated.
